Artist Statement:

I am interested in exploring different facets of life through my work. Our lives can be broken down into segments such as our experience as it unfolds in a timeline. This could be a psychological event such as a distinctly happy moment from the past or present or an observation of our physical environment such as a space in a home. My work, which could be a print, painting, mixed media work or artist book, explores these concerns through experimentation with vivid colour, pattern, texture, and repetition of form. I begin with a general idea, then take direction from the artwork as the piece evolves. Life's journey is a rich and constantly evolving one. It is fertile ground for the creation of new work.
