

SUE A. MILLER - VISUAL ARTIST

Sue Miller was born in 1965 & raised in a small community in rural Ontario . After graduating from the Fine Arts Program at Georgian College in Barrie, Ontario, Sue took some time to explore Europe. Upon returning to Canada, she worked as a designer for several small companies, eventually striking out with her own business while staying at home to raise a family. Creemore, Ontario has been home for 18 years where she resides with her three children. Sue spends her days in a collective studio, The Fish Bowl Artists Studio, 87 Hurontario St. Collingwood, Ontario & also runs a graphic design business.

Along with 4 others, Sue is a founding board member & part of a dynamic management team that runs a not-for-profit art gallery: The Mad & Noisy Gallery, in Creemore, Ontario.

Sue receives inspiration mainly from rural Ontario & dramatic Canadian landscape. Newfoundland is a place that Sue has travelled too several times & found it has inspired most of her recent work.

"Painting like design, is about visual communication, but also, it is the unfolding of a deep personal connection between the artist, the painting & the audience."
